FLOYD BENNETT MAKES SUPREME SACRIFICE

GREAT AIRMAN
GAVE HIS LIFE
TO AID OTHERS

SUCCUMBS TO DOUBLE PNEUMONIA AT QUEBEC HOSPITAL

FLOW FROM DETROIT WITH RELIEF FOR TRANS-ATLANTIC PLANE BREMEN

Quebec, April 25.—(UP)—Floyd Bennett died in the Jeffrey Hale hospital today of pneumonia.

America lost one of her greatest airmen and the whole world mourned one of the pioneers who played a conspicuous part in the stirring aviation feats of the past year.

Bennett died at 10:45 A. M. He died in the cause to which he had devoted his life. Although in ill health, he sacrificed himself to fly with relief from Detroit for the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen on Greenly Island.

Double pneumonia developed. The man who piloted Commander Richard E. Byrd to the North Pole and risked his life in other daring feats was unable to combat it in his weakened condition.

The entire world was concerned. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, America's idol, made a magnificent effort to save him by flying from New York to Quebec, more than 500 miles, in record-breaking time with serum to combat the disease. It failed, the serum proving useless for the type of pneumonia with which Bennett was afflicted.

His commander and friend, Byrd, came from Boston to stand by him. Bennett smiled when Byrd was permitted a brief look at him and promised he would be well in time to go with Byrd on his greatest exploit—the projected flight over the South Pole this fall.

Byrd was deeply afflicted by Bennett's death. The two men were like brothers.

The fier's wife, who came to be at his bedside, was taken ill with tonsillitis and was confined to the same hospital when the end came.

Word that Bennett was dying was issued from the hospital at 10 A. M., at which time Col. Lindbergh prepared to return to Mitchell Field, disconsolate over the failure of his mission.

The fraternity of the air which drew Bennett on his fatal flight to aid the Bremen's crew, which still is weather-bound on Greenly Island, brought Colonel Lindbergh to the aid of Bennett and Commander Byrd to his former pilot, too late to help.

Dr. W. H. Delaney, superintendent of the hospital, who announced Bennett's death officially at 11 A. M., said that the serum brought by Lindbergh was useless against "number 3 pneumonia" which finally caused the flyer's death.

Early today it was known by those in attendance on Bennett that he could live but a few hours.

Mrs. Bennett's condition naturally was aggravated by her worry over her husband.

Despite her severe tonsillitis, Mrs. Bennett was taken to her husband's bedside this morning, shortly before he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Dr. Barach, one of the attending physicians, informed the United Press that Bennett became unconscious at 9:10 A. M.

"After that," said Dr. Barach, "he quietly and steadily passed away."

Commander Byrd, grieving over the loss of his comrade, said that he, together with Mrs. Bennett, Dr. Barach and the American consul, Col. Dennison, would make the funeral arrangements this afternoon.

It was understood that Bennett's body might be taken to New York by airplane, with military escort.

Floyd Bennett's greatest achievement was with Commander Richard Byrd in their epochal flight from Spitzbergen, Norway, to the north Pole and return. The flight was made in 15 hours and 51 minutes, on May 6, 1926. For his daring and resourcefulness in undertaking the flight, Bennett received a gold medal from the National Geographical society. It was presented by President Coolidge.

When he and Byrd returned from their conquest of the North Pole, Byrd asserted that Bennett should be given the major share of the credit, and more recently, when Commander Byrd selected his staff for the South Pole expedition, he said:

"Floyd Bennett, who flew to the North Pole with me, will be my first lieutenant. I couldn't go without him. I'll always regret that he couldn't make the trans-Atlantic trip with me because of injuries received from a crash that spring."

These expressions of esteem by Commander Byrd epitomize the high regard in which American aviators held the man who rose from a mechanic in the navy to one of the most daring and successful pilots in the world.

Bennett first became associated with Commander Byrd in 1925 when the latter was placed in charge of the naval section of Commander Donald B. MacMillan's Arctic expedition. The two men became firm friends, despite the gulf that usually separates commissioned and non-commissioned officers. It was Byrd's admiration for Bennett's flying ability that prompted him to choose Bennett as his pilot for the North Pole expedition.

The flight to the pole, which at that time had been seen by only six men, Captain Robert E. Peary, his negro servant and four Eskimos, was accomplished on May 6, 1926. A cryptic message sent by Bennett to his wife after the adventure had been a success was characteristic of him: "Back from flight over Pole. Safe and well."

An enthusiastic reception was accorded the flyers on their return to New York on June 24, 1926. Bennett received the congressional medal of honor for the exploit as well as the Hubbard Medal. He also wore the Distinguished Service Medal.

In the fall of 1926, with Lieutenant Bernt Balchen and his navigator Bennett made an 8,800-mile lecture tour of the United States under the auspices of the Guggenheim Foundation for the Promotion of Aeronautics. The plane was turned over to the Ford Museum at Dearborn, Mich., at the conclusion of the tour.

Commander Byrd selected Bennett as his chief pilot for the trans-Atlantic trip last spring, but the injuries he had received in an accident during a test flight on April 16, 1927, forced him to a hospital. He still remained there while the flight was made. He had suffered a fractured skull, body injuries and a broken leg, and was not able to leave the institution until July 10.

During the flight of Byrd and his companions across the dreary spaces of the Atlantic, Bennett was allowed to have a radio at his bedside to listen to the reports of the progress of the plane.

When Byrd and his crew returned to New York to be acclaimed by the city's millions, Bennett was among the first to greet them, and came in for a share of the honors.

In March of this year, Bennett tested the new Ballanca plane which has been built for the South Pole trip, making several extensive trips in it with Balchen. One trip included the new gold fields in Manitoba.

One of his friends, in telling of Bennett's exploits, said of the famous flyer:

"He worked steadily when engaged in any undertaking. Not only steady, but religiously. He seldom talked; he just worked."

Bennett has held the rank of the naval aviator, non-commissioned, since February 1, 1927. He was granted leaves of absence in connection with the Byrd-McMillan Polar flight, and preparations for the Byrd trans-Atlantic flight.

Bennett was born in 1896 in the Virgin Hollow section of Lake George, N. Y. When seven years of age he went to Warrensburg to live with an uncle. He remained there until becoming 18, removing to Schenectady, N. Y., to take up motor mechanical work. He later operated a garage at Ticonderoga.

He enlisted in the navy in 1917 after this country had entered the war. It was after his enlistment that Bennett nursed ambitions to become a flyer, and in telling of his conception of his ambition, he used to explain in his talks over the radio:

"I was a mechanic for two years at the various naval training schools and I paid particular attention to motors and the theory of flight. Eventually I was sent to the Pensacola flight school for eight months. Here my desire to fly was realized."

After winning his pilot's wings in the navy he was test pilot at the

2 SUBJECTS EXPECTED TO EXCITE CONTROVERSY AMONG LEAGUE WOMEN VOTERS

FOREIGN POLICY COMMITTEE TAKES STAND ON MOVEMENT TO OUTLAW WAR

By JAMES K. MARTINDALE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, April 25.—Birth control and the prohibition question—the two subjects over which the League of Women Voters was expected to find the greatest controversy—will not be included in the program for study of the league during the next two years.

The league last night voted not to place these two questions in the program, after receiving reports from the committee appointed to study the questions.

However, the factions which had supported the subjects threatened that they were not through, and it was hinted the subjects might come up again before the convention had ended next Saturday.

The foreign policy committee of the league took a positive stand on a third paramount question—the international movement to outlaw war—and voted to send delegates to both the republican and democratic national conventions to lobby for Secretary of State Kellogg's multi-lateral treaty plan. It was hoped thereby to include an endorsement of the plan in the campaign platforms of the parties.

Heated debate had been expected on the convention floor if the committees had favored including birth control and prohibition in the league's program and had passed them to the general meeting for final approval.

The movement favoring support of birth control legislation was headed by Mrs. Wells Engleton of New Jersey, a leader of the birth control league.

PICRIC ACID USED FOR LAND CLEARING

Fergus Falls, Minn., April 25.—(UP)—Ottetail farmers have purchased 223,400 pounds of explosives from the government for land clearing purposes, it was revealed today. From the time that picric acid became available for land clearing purposes in 1921 until the last of pyrotol had been sold April 1, that amount was consumed.

During the same period Minnesota used 10,562,000 pounds, or the equivalent to 425 carloads.

TO ESTABLISH PLANT

Red Wing, Minn., April 25.—(UP)—Workmen have come to the front in a movement to re-establish a firm footing for the Red Wing Millworks company.

Men employed for many years by the company met with the industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce here and discussed plans whereby the mill will employ men from fifty local families who otherwise would have to seek employment elsewhere.

Manila, P. I., April 25.—(UP)—Four Moros accused of murder were electrocuted at the penitentiary here today.

The four had asked that they be permitted to die in the Mohammedan manner, but Governor General Stimson refused their plea.

CHINESE FORCES HAVE CAPTURED TSINANFU, IT IS CLAIMED

FOREIGN REPORTS UNOFFICIALLY CONFIRM NEWS DISPATCHES

Shanghai, April 25.—(UP)—Nationalist soldiers in the civil war, continuing a triumphant spring offensive, have captured Tsinanfu, national officials claimed today.

Foreign reports unofficially confirmed the claim.

Dispatches said that Chang Chung-Chang, northern general, once hailed a possible Chinese Mussolini, had fled to Tsingtao, where Japanese soldiers are concentrated to protect their interests in view of the nationalist advance.

Chang's troops were reported to be falling back on Tschow. A Russian brigade of his army, composed of anti-communist refugees from Russia, was reported to have been annihilated near Chiehshou.

Tsinanfu banks have closed, in view of the nationalist advance.

Shanghai, April 25.—Dr. Walter F. Seymour, an American, was shot and killed last Tuesday at the Presbyterian mission hospital at Tsinanfu, a Chefoo message said today.

Dr. Seymour was head of the hospital. Confirmation of the message and details of the incident were lacking.

CLEVELAND VOTERS
TURN DOWN CITY
CHARTER GOVERNMENT

Cleveland, O., April 25.—(UP)—Cleveland voters again have turned down the city charter form of government—this time by the slim majority of 2,763 votes.

In rejecting the amendment the city voted to retain the city manager form of government which has been a highly controversial issue, politically, for several years.

Charges of fraud in the circulation of petitions favoring the proposal marked the closing weeks of the primary campaign. Grand jury action was anticipated.

LOWER ALABAMA VALLEY NOW IN PATH OF NEW FLOOD MENACE

RAILROAD AND HIGHWAY TRAFFIC AT STANDSTILL IN 3 STATES

Atlanta, Ga., April 25.—(UP)—Crests of flood waters that have driven thousands from their homes in six southern states and caused property damage estimated at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 moved out of upper reaches of streams and rivers today and threatened new communities.

The lower Alabama valley, the Pearl river and Tombigbee river valleys in Mississippi and the lower Choctawhatchee valley in northwest Florida were in the path of the new flood menace.

Shoal river was receding in northwest Florida.

In Georgia the northern reaches of the Flint were at a lower stage and farming communities again dry land. The Apalachicola will receive the main body of the flood within the next 48 hours and communities along its banks were warned of the rise.

Railroad and highway traffic in the Georgia, Florida and Alabama area was at a standstill for the third day. At least 15 bridges in Alabama have been washed away. One was the 140 foot structure between Opp and Andalusia.

Georgia farmers, especially growers in the area, consider their combined losses to run above $2,000,000. Watermelon and cantaloupe plantings, nearly mature, were ruined also. At least 100 head of cattle were drowned in south Georgia.

From Pensacola came reports that Carryville, Fla., evacuated by its six hundred inhabitants Monday, had been completely washed away by the flood waters of the Choctawhatchee. The river was still rising there.

Jackson, Miss., watched the Pearl river rise. Lowlands near the city have already been deserted. The crest of the rise was expected today. The Tombigbee at Columbus, Miss., was choked with flood waters and the towns along the lower valley in Alabama were warned to expect higher water.

The Arkansas and White rivers continued to rise in Arkansas. In northern Louisiana the Ouachita river was at flood stage.

Loss of life, on the basis of incomplete reports, appeared confined to the hard hit Florida and Alabama areas. Six negroes were drowned in southern Alabama. Two were missing from a family that fled Carryville, Ala., as the flood encroached.

The tri-state area of southwest Georgia, southern Alabama and northwest Florida with hundreds of thousands of acres of rich farmland under water and refugees numbering several thousand, continued to be the heart of the flood menace.

Lower reaches of rivers in the area received the muddy flood waters that yesterday cut off from the outside world a dozen small communities built along the upper reaches. These small towns today receive back their inhabitants.

Demopolis, Ala., April 25.—The Tombigbee river, drainage system of west Alabama and eastern Mississippi, was more than 12 feet above its flood stage of 39 feet today and weather bureau officials predicted a stage of 62 feet by Sunday.

Hundreds of farmers have been driven from their homes in Sumter and Choctaw counties, and the waters were gradually widening in Marengo county. Thousands of acres of the richest cotton lands in Alabama were in the path of the flood.

Flood warnings were sent by long distance telephone today to all points expected to be within the flooded area, as the Tombigbee has few dams or locks and control of the waters will be practically impossible.

No loss of life was reported from the section but much farm stock was believed swept to death.

DRUNKEN PIG GAVE FORTH THE SECRET OF STILL

Ada, Minn., April 25.—(UP)—Theodore Semie was released on bonds in connection with the alleged illegal operation of a still, and the first thing he did was kill a pig which he declared betrayed him. The pig, neighbors said, ate mash discarded by Semie, and its staggering navigation led to an investigation and Semie's arrest.

INVESTIGATING BABY'S DEATH

Minneapolis, April 25.—(UP)—Harold E. Null, is held by police today pending an investigation into the death of his 6-months-old son. The child was found dead in his bed Monday night and an autopsy performed late yesterday failed to reveal the exact cause of death.

Doctors said today that death was due to congestion of the lungs, and added that there were no signs of violence.

CONSTABLE SENTENCED TO THE WORKHOUSE

Minneapolis, April 25.—(UP)—Val B. Wright, constable of Golden Valley, just outside Minneapolis, was sentenced to 90 days in the Minneapolis workhouse today. Wright first was accused of extortion, but the charge was changed to petty larceny and he pleaded guilty.

Wright was accused by a motorist of having offered to immunize him from prosecution for a traffic violation for $25.

EXCUSE FOR ROBBERY WAS NECESSITY OF PAYING HIS TAXES

St. Paul, April 25.—(UP)—Necessity for meeting real estate taxes is not sufficient excuse for breaking into a store and robbing it, Judge R. D. O'Brien decided today in the case of Simon Guojana.

Guojana pleaded guilty to taking $36 from the store of a friend, in order to meet part of his $100 taxes. He was sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory for five years.

Eleven prowls and robberies where loot, including cash, household goods, gold pieces and Liberty bonds were taken already have been admitted by the youths, police said.

The crimes covered a period of six months, police declared.

WHEELS WILL NOT SERVE FOR TAKE-OFF, SKIS ARE REQUIRED

ICE AT LAKE ST. AGNES HONEYCOMBING, SPELLING LANDING TROUBLE

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Montreal, April 25.—Ill luck today continued to follow the Bremen, in which Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld, Captain Hermann Koehl and Major James Fitzmaurice made the first westward crossing of the Atlantic.

A heavy snow swirling through the upper St. Lawrence region, swept into Greenly Island overnight. Strong winds, laden with snow, were blowing.

To add to this new obstacle, the masters of the Bremen had found that the wheels would not serve for a take-off from Greenly Island. This developed, according to Clarke City dispatches early today, from a try-out yesterday. Skis, it was said, are required, and none is available at Greenly.

Another test was to be made today. If it succeeded, and the weather moderated, the Bremen was to hop off for Lake St. Agnes en route to New York.

If the Bremen can not leave Greenly Island, then its crew faces these alternatives:

1. Going in aboard the rescue plane of the Ford Company.

2. Waiting for skis to be taken into Greenly.

3. Waiting for seasonable weather to clear the snow—a scheme regarded as fantastic since this would mean a long wait on the island.

The Bremen's perils, it appeared today, did not lurk merely over the ocean between Ireland and Greenly Island, but may still be ahead. The ice at Lake St. Agnes was honeycombed some, and there were rivermen who feared the big Ford and the smaller Bremen might meet trouble in landing.

BREMEN'S STORY
ENVISAGES TRAGEDY

(By United Press)

The story of the monoplane Bremen's westward passage across the North Atlantic ocean grows more complicated with each new development.

Two days ago it was a story of heroism and victory—man's triumph over the elements.

Today it is tinged by tragedy with the achievements of modern ingenuity proving ineffectual against the ravages of disease and the physical impediments of the far north.

Into the drama have been drawn many of the air heroes of Europe, Canada and the United States—Lindbergh, Bennett, Byrd, Fitzmaurice, Koehl, Chamberlin, Balchen, Schiller and Von Huenefeld.

Floyd Bennett left a sick bed in Detroit to fly to Greenly Island and speed the triumph of Koehl, Von Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice, who had landed there in the Bremen after completing the first westward flight across the Atlantic.

At Murray Bay he suffered a relapse and was taken back to Quebec where he developed double pneumonia. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh broke all records in a flight from New York to Quebec with a supply of anti-pneumonia serum, but learned that it would be of no value in combating the disease with which his comrade was stricken.

Meanwhile C. A. "Duke" Schiller and Bernt Balchen flew on to Greenly Island with supplies and repairs for the stranded Bremen, but continued bad weather raised a doubt whether they would be able to return to civilization today as they had planned.

Clarence Chamberlin, who piloted Charles Levine eastward across the Atlantic last summer, flew to Murray Bay from Hartford, Conn., and is waiting there to welcome the crew of the Bremen and escort them down to New York.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, who had made Bennett his chief aid in his projected flight to the South Pole this year, hastened to Quebec by this year, hastened to Quebec by this year, hastened to Quebec by this year.

The four had asked that they be permitted to die in the Mohammedan manner, but Governor General Stimson refused their plea.

The natives asked that their death occur by the "busbus" method, in which the victim is tied to a tree, a cross slashed on his abdomen and he is left to bleed to death.

TRIUMPHANT SPRING OFFENSIVE BY NATIONALISTS

CHINESE FORCES HAVE CAPTURED TSINANFU, IT IS CLAIMED

FOREIGN REPORTS UNOFFICIALLY CONFIRM NEWS DISPATCHES

Shanghai, April 25.—(U.P.)—Nationalist soldiers in the civil war, continuing a triumphant spring offensive, have captured Tsinanfu, nationalist officials claimed today.

Foreign reports unofficially confirmed the claim.

Dispatches said that Chang Chung-Chang, northern general, once hailed a possible Chinese Mussolini, had fled to Tsingtao, where Japanese soldiers are concentrated to protect their interests in view of the nationalist advance.

Chang's troops were reported to be falling back on Tachow. A Russian brigade of his army, composed of anti-communist refugees from Russia, was reported to have been annihilated near Chiehshou.

Tsinanfu banks have closed, in view of the nationalist advance.

Shanghai, April 25.—Dr. Walter F. Seymour, an American, was shot and killed last Tuesday at the Presbyterian mission hospital at Tsinanfu, a Chefoo message said today.

Dr. Seymour was head of the hospital. Confirmation of the message and details of the incident were lacking.

CLEVELAND VOTERS TURN DOWN CITY CHARTER GOVERNMENT

Cleveland, O., April 25.—(U.P.)—Cleveland voters again have turned down the city charter form of government—this time by the slim majority of 2,763 votes.

In rejecting the amendment the city voted to retain the city manager form of government which has been a highly controversial issue, politically, for several years.

Charges of fraud in the circulation of petitions favoring the proposal marked the closing weeks of the primary campaign. Grand jury action was anticipated.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE DRIVEN FROM HOMES

LOWER ALABAMA VALLEY NOW IN PATH OF NEW FLOOD MENACE

RAILROAD AND HIGHWAY TRAFFIC AT STANDSTILL IN 3 STATES

Atlanta, Ga., April 25.—(U.P.)—Crests of flood waters that have driven thousands from their homes in six southern states and caused property damage estimated at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 moved out of upper reaches of streams and rivers today and threatened new communities.

The lower Alabama valley, the Pearl river and Tombigbee river valleys in Mississippi and the lower Choctawhatchee valley in northwest Florida were in the path of the new flood menace.

Shoal river was receding in northwest Florida.

In Georgia the northern reaches of the Flint were at a lower stage and farming communities again dry land. The Apalachicola will receive the main body of the flood within the next 48 hours and communities along its banks were warned of the rise.

Railroad and highway traffic in the Georgia, Florida and Alabama area was at a standstill for the third day. At least 15 bridges in Alabama have been washed away. One was the 140 foot structure between Opp and Andalusia.

Georgia farmers, especially growers in the area, consider their combined losses to run above $2,000,000. Watermelon and cantaloupe plantings, nearly mature, were ruined also. At least 100 head of cattle were drowned in south Georgia.

From Pensacola came reports that Carryville, Fla., evacuated by its six hundred inhabitants Monday, had been completely washed away by the flood waters of the Choctawhatchee. The river was still rising there.

Jackson, Miss., watched the Pearl river rise. Lowlands near the city have already been deserted. The crest of the rise was expected today. The Tombigbee at Columbus, Miss., was choked with flood waters and the towns along the lower valley in Alabama were warned to expect higher water.

The Arkansas and White rivers continued to rise in Arkansas. In northern Louisiana the Ouachita river was at flood stage.

Loss of life, on the basis of incomplete reports, appeared confined to the hard hit Florida and Alabama areas. Six negroes were drowned in southern Alabama. Two were missing from a family that fled Caryville, Ala., as the flood encroached.

The tri-state area of southwest Georgia, southern Alabama and northwest Florida with hundreds of thousands of acres of rich farmland under water and refugees numbering several thousand, continued to be the heart of the flood menace.

Lower reaches of rivers in the area received the muddy flood waters that yesterday cut off from the outside world a dozen small communities built along the upper reaches. These small towns today receive back their inhabitants.

Demopolis, Ala., April 25.—The Tombigbee river, drainage system of west Alabama and eastern Mississippi, was more than 12 feet above its flood stage of 39 feet today and weather bureau officials predicted a stage of 62 feet by Sunday.

Hundreds of farmers have been driven from their homes in Sumter and Choctaw counties, and the waters were gradually widening in Marengo county. Thousands of acres of the richest cotton lands in Alabama were in the path of the flood.

Flood warnings were sent by long distance telephone today to all points expected to be within the flooded area, as the Tombigbee has few dams or locks and control of the waters will be practically impossible.

No loss of life was reported from the section but much farm stock was believed swept to death.

DRUNKEN PIG GAVE FORTH THE SECRET OF STILL

Ada, Minn., April 25.—(U.P.)—Theodore Semie was released on bonds in connection with the alleged illegal operation of a still, and the first thing he did was kill a pig which he declared betrayed him. Minneapolis, April 25.—(U.P.)—Harold E. Null, is held by police today pending an investigation into the death of his 6-months-old son. The child was found dead in his bed Monday night and an autopsy performed late yesterday failed to reveal the exact cause of death.

Doctors said today that death was due to congestion of the lungs, and added that there were no signs of violence.

CONSTABLE SENTENCED TO THE WORKHOUSE

Minneapolis, April 25.—(U.P.)—Val B. Wright, constable of Golden Valley, just outside Minneapolis, was sentenced to 90 days in the Minneapolis workhouse today. Wright first was accused of extortion, but the charge was changed to petty larceny and he pleaded guilty.

EXCUSE FOR ROBBERY WAS NECESSITY OF PAYING HIS TAXES

St. Paul, April 25.—(U.P.)—Necessity for meeting real estate taxes is not sufficient excuse for breaking into a store and robbing it, Judge R. D. O'Brien decided today in the case of Simon Guojana.

Guojana pleaded guilty to taking $36 from the store of a friend, in order to meet part of his $100 taxes.

He was sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory for five years.

Eleven prowls and robberies where loot, including cash, household goods, gold pieces and Liberty bonds were taken already have been admitted by the youths, police said.

The crimes covered a period of six months, police declared.

GREENLY ISLE IS SWEEPED BY SNOWSTORMS

WHEELS WILL NOT SERVE FOR TAKE-OFF. SKIS ARE REQUIRED

ICE AT LAKE ST. AGNES HONEYCOMBING, SPELLING LANDING TROUBLE

By CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Montreal, April 25.—Ill luck today continued to follow the Bremen, in which Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld, Captain Hermann Koehl and Major James Fitzmaurice made the first westward crossing of the Atlantic.

A heavy snow swirling through the upper St. Lawrence region, swept into Greenly Island overnight. Strong winds, laden with snow, were blowing.

To add to this new obstacle, the masters of the Bremen had found that the wheels would not serve for a take-off from Greenly Island. This developed, according to Clarke City dispatches early today, from a try-out yesterday. Skis, it was said, are required, and none is available at Greenly.

Another test was to be made today. If it succeeded, and the weather moderated, the Bremen was to hop off for Lake St. Agnes en route to New York.

If the Bremen can not leave Greenly Island, then its crew faces these alternatives:

1. Going in aboard the rescue plane of the Ford Company.

2. Waiting for skis to be taken into Greenly.

3. Waiting for reasonable weather to clear the snow—a scheme regarded as fantastic since this would mean a long wait on the island.

The Bremen's perils, it appeared today, did not lurk merely over the ocean between Ireland and Greenly Island, but may still be ahead. The ice at Lake St. Agnes was honeycombed in some, and there were rivermen who feared the big Ford and the smaller Bremen might meet trouble in landing.

BREMEN'S STORY ENVISAGES TRAGEDY

(By United Press)

The story of the monoplane Bremen's westward passage across the North Atlantic ocean grows more complicated with each new development.

Two days ago it was a story of heroism and victory—man's triumph over the elements.

Today it is tinged by tragedy with the achievements of modern ingenuity proving ineffectual against the ravages of disease and the physical impediments of the far north.

Into the drama have been drawn many of the air heroes of Europe, Canada and the United States—Lindbergh, Bennett, Byrd, Fitzmaurice, Koehl, Chamberlin, Balchen, Schiffer and Von Huenefeld.

Floyd Bennett left a sick bed in Detroit to fly to Greenly Island and speed the triumph of Koehl, Von Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice, who had landed there in the Bremen after completing the first westward flight across the Atlantic.

At Murray Bay he suffered a relapse and was taken back to Quebec where he developed double pneumonia. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh broke all records in a flight from New York to Quebec with a supply of anti-pneumonia serum, but learned that it would be of no value in combating the disease with which his comrade was stricken.

Meanwhile C. A. "Duke" Schiffer and Bernt Balchen flew on to Greenly Island with supplies and repairs for the stranded Bremen, but continued bad weather raised a doubt whether they would be able to return to civilization today as they had planned.

Clarence Chamberlin, who piloted Charles Levine eastward across the Atlantic last summer, flew to Murray Bay from Hartford, Conn., and is waiting there to welcome the crew of the Bremen and escort them down to New York.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, who had made Bennett his chief aid in his projected flight to the South Pole this year, hastened to Quebec by this year, hastened to Quebec by this year, hastened to Quebec by this year.

The Skyrockets beat the North Stars a game of baseball this morning by a score of 3 to 7. This is the first official notice of a baseball score by the "heavyweights" in the city and it is sure a sign that the season is opened.

Ole Peterson has gone to Bemidji where he expects to spend the summer, having accepted a position with Barney Burton & Co.

Clark Smith and Will Koop left this afternoon for the Twin Cities to spend Sunday.

This afternoon the first game of the baseball season is being played in the Brainerd Athletic park, between the high school team of this city and the high school team of Royalton. The teams both belong to the league of Northern Minnesota high schools and considerable interest is being taken in the game by the young fellows.

Did you ever realize that a boy has a desire to escape the drab, commonplace things of life. Do grown-ups understand how flat and superficial ordinary city-life may be for a boy. Most so-called badness in boys is a revolt against it. Things get so exceedingly ordinary, so terribly superficial. That old pioneer, who now lies buried somewhere, is also present in the boy but is crowded way back in the corner and gets no chance at all; no food to struggle for, no clothing to produce or make, no Indians to subdue, no colts to break; nothing to do but wash up and keep clean and wait for company. Such a life for a boy. Is it a wonder why he becomes mischievous or even "bad"? Whose fault is it? Ours, the grown-ups; because we do not give the boys the program of activity and pastime which is both educational and a relief from the ordinary drabness of life. Public schools serve their good purpose, but they can not possibly be conducted to permit the boy to "blow off steam" and also get A or B or even C in department.

Juvenile delinquency is largely a revolt on the part of the boy against the superficiality of modern civilization. Rooted deeply in boys is the constant desire to break away from that superficiality that tries to make him a sissy and a mollycoddle, for certainly society is so geared up to reduce life to the commonplace. We should believe in and provide real spectacular activity for the benefit of the boy. It should be well organized and well lead, and related to a program. There is ample data to show that the Boy Scout organizations reduce juvenile delinquency.

The program must be a varied program. Not all boys respond to the same urge. If they did, this work would be reduced to a mechanical performance, ground out on a large scale, and be conducted rigidly like a school. To be effective it must differ from a school program. It is effective, or 150,000 men would not be devoting their time to it at their own expense.

Did you ever realize that a boy has a desire to escape the drab, com- monplace things of life. Do grown- ups understand how flat and super- ficial ordinary city-life may be for a boy. Most so-called badness in boys is a revolt against it. Things get so exceedingly ordinary, so terribly superficial. That old pioneer, who now lies buried somewhere, is also present in the boy but is crowded way back in the corner and gets no chance at all; no food to struggle for, no clothing to produce or make, no Indians to subdue, no colts to break; nothing to do but wash up and keep clean and wait for com- pany. Such a life for a boy. Is it a wonder why he becomes mischiev- ous or even "bad"? Whose fault is it? Ours, the grown-ups; because we do not give the boys the program of activity and pastime which is both educational and a relief from the ordinary drabness of life. Pub- lic schools serve their good purpose, but they can not possibly be con- ducted to permit the boy to "blow off steam" and also get A or B or even C in department.

Juvenile delinquency is largely a revolt on the part of the boy against the superficiality of modern civiliza- tion. Rooted deeply in boys is the constant desire to break away from that superficiality that tries to make him a sissy and a mollycoddle, for certainly society is so geared up to reduce life to the commonplace. We should believe in and provide real spectacular activity for the benefit of the boy. It should be well or- ganized and well lead, and related to a program. There is ample data to show that the Boy Scout organiza- tions reduce juvenile delinquency.

The program must be a varied pro- gram. Not all boys respond to the same urge. If they did, this work would be reduced to a mechanical performance, ground out on a large scale, and be conducted rigidly like a school. To be effective it must differ from a school program. It is effective, or 150,000 men would not be devoting their time to it at their own expense.

LET THE VOTERS DECIDE

THE solution of the high school question seems simple in view of the vote of the members of the board of education on the various propositions submitted to the board at the Monday evening meeting. The various propositions and the votes thereon disclosed that all members of the board agree that two buildings are necessary or desirable to meet the school needs of the city, one to contain the high school for the whole city and a suitable auditorium and a junior high for the pupils of that portion of the city in which the high school is situated, and the construction of a junior high with a suitable auditorium and necessary grade rooms to be located on the opposite side of the N. P. tracks from which the high school is located. All members seem also to be agreed that an issue of $250,000 in bonds is necessary to finance this plan.

But the board is evenly divided, the vote disclosed, on whether the senior high school for the whole city be located on block 155, the old high school site on the south side, and the junior high on block 82, the so-called "fill site" on the north side, or vice versa, the senior high on block 82, north side, and the junior high on block 155, south side.

Why not let the voters decide? This is the American way of settling public questions. Submit the only question that seems to divide the board to the voters with the question of authorizing the board to issue the necessary bonds to build the two buildings on the location the voters shall decide.

Urgent action is necessary. School facilities now are and will be deplorable until new buildings are built. Action to submit the question of the location of the two buildings to the people will end the matter and construction can be begun the moment the votes are counted and the people have decided the question. The people pay the bills—not the board members—and a majority vote of the people should decide the question of location.

AVIATION is moving along so fast that one has to keep books on the records in order to be up to date. No foot of the earth's surface will shortly be unexplored. Whereas in the old days it took months and years for a polar expedition to get anywhere and then to have a rescue party attempt to find it, this has all been succeeded by an airplane flight that takes but a few hours.

Jeweled Wedding Rings

At a recent wedding the bride's ring was of platinum, set with a single turquoise. This may seem a novel idea, but it is not so really. A century ago all wedding rings were inset with one or more precious stones. The majority of them, too, had either an inscribed motto or the bride's and bridegroom's Christian names linked in a heart-scroll. "Of love unbroken this circle is token" was a favorite inscription.

Gleams of Beauty

EVEN in this day of color, there are still people who prefer, in their dining rooms, the more conventional effect produced by furniture having a natural wood finish. Mahogany, walnut and dark oak—each of these rich woods has its following among persons of more conservative tastes.

But it is only when such pieces are well-varnished or finished with a clear lacquer that they achieve genuinely decorative effects.

The play of lights upon their dark yet mirror-like surfaces gives them a rich and fascinating beauty all their own. Softly they gleam beneath the mellow glow of shaded candles, and reflect the beauty of all objects placed upon them.

The Proper Background

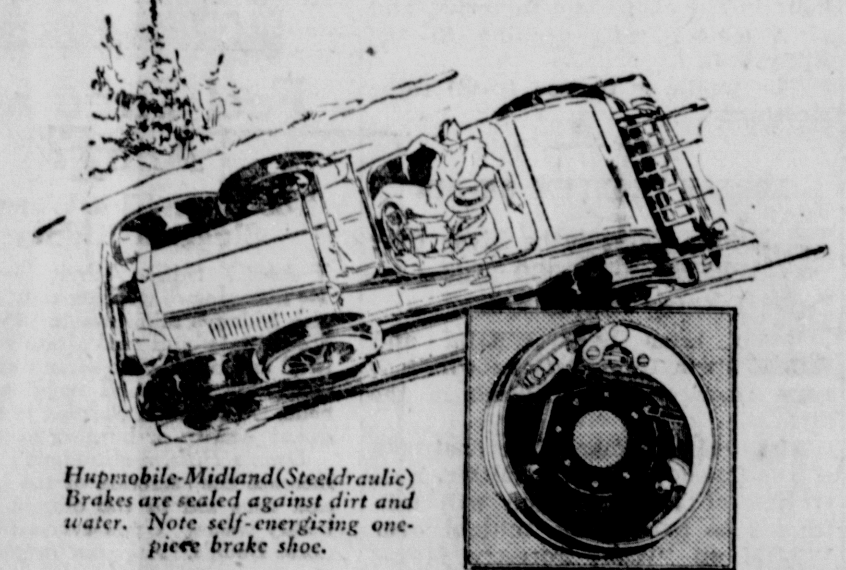

Against a background of plain or paneled walls painted some light tone, such as cream, dove-gray,

sea-green or powder-blue, furniture of this type stands out in striking relief. If, however, the walls of the dining room are of paneled wood which matches the furniture, their surfaces, too, should be highly varnished, or lacquered with clear lacquer, to complete the harmony of the ensemble. And of course the floor should also be given a high-gloss varnish finish. For a dull floor would greatly lessen the beauty of a room so furnished.

Incidentally—and yet, in its way, of equal importance with the decorative value of the varnished surface—it should be remembered that a good varnish protects furniture against the dampness of spilled fluids. And its easy-cleaning properties make it a boon to the housewife. Dust is completely removed with a single, quick wipe of a polishing-cloth, while a slightly dampened cloth perfectly cleanses the surface of crumbs or grease.

Here's What They Say About

Iso=Vis!

I bought a five gallon can of Iso-Vis F Motor Oil of your agent at Gypsum, Kansas, and wish to say that it is the best oil I ever used in my Ford. I use my car continuously.

—Olaf Bengtson, Gypsum, Kansas.

I have used Iso-Vis Motor Oil in my Chrysler Automobile and like it fine. It has given me satisfaction in every way. Have used it now for 1400 miles and it is still holding up good.

—W. G. Keefe, 12561 Third Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Perhaps you would be pleased to know that I found the Iso-Vis [heavy] quite clear and of good body when I had my crankcase drained for a refill after driving 2435 miles. I call that good oil. The car used is a standard six Buick.

—Noah L. Bess, Algoma, Wis.

I have used Iso-Vis medium since December 8th in my Star car, driving about 600 miles a week. I have experienced no starting trouble, and have had perfect motor performance at all speeds and temperatures. I change oil every 1000 miles, and the oil taken out is good enough to use again, as far as lubricating quality goes. Iso-Vis has given me wonderful satisfaction.

—D. C. McCown, 109 N. 13th St., Ft. Dodge, Ia.

These are just a few samples from thousands of unsolicited letters telling what Iso-Vis has done—actual records of performance. They mean more than anything the Standard Oil Company [Indiana] can say about this product. They verify all it has said!

Ordinary motor oil thins out before the car has gone 200 miles. Motorists learned to expect dilution and the trouble it caused. Then Iso-Vis was put on the market—no wonder it was received with enthusiasm.

Iso-Vis is called the constant viscosity motor oil because it keeps its body. It never falls down on the job. It maintains constant lubricating efficiency!

The records of Iso-Vis in daily use talk! They say that Iso-Vis means greater mileage without changing oil—and complete satisfaction every mile. You ought to try it! Iso-Vis "F" for Model T Fords.

Can Live Without Water

All mammals probably drink some water, although a few naturalists believe that the gemsbok or gemsbok, a large and beautifully marked antelope-like animal found in South Africa, drinks no water. They say it obtains all the moisture it needs from the succulent bulbous plants on which it feeds.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Temporarily Bennett's misfortune and Lindbergh's daring flight through snow and fog overshadowed the triumph of the Bremen. There was a possibility that plans for their reception in Canada and the United States would be modified in view of Bennett's illness and cancelled entirely in event of his failure to recover.
The serum was useless against Bennett's disease, for which no serum has been developed.

Jeweled Wedding Rings

At a recent wedding the bride's ring was of platinum, set with a single turquoise. This may seem a novel idea, but it is not so really. A century ago all wedding rings were inset with one or more precious stones. The majority of them, too, had either an inscribed motto or the bride's and bridegroom's Christian names linked in a heart-shaped scroll. "Of love unbroken this circle is token" was a favorite inscription.

Gleams of Beauty

EVEN in this day of color, there are still people who prefer, in their dining rooms, the more conventional effect produced by furniture having a natural wood finish. Mahogany, walnut and dark oak—each of these rich woods has its following among persons of more conservative tastes.
But it is only when such pieces are well-varnished or finished with a clear lacquer that they achieve genuinely decorative effects. The play of lights upon their dark yet mirror-like surfaces gives them a rich and fascinating beauty all their own. Softly they gleam beneath the mellow glow of shaded candles, and reflect the beauty of all objects placed upon them.

The Proper Background

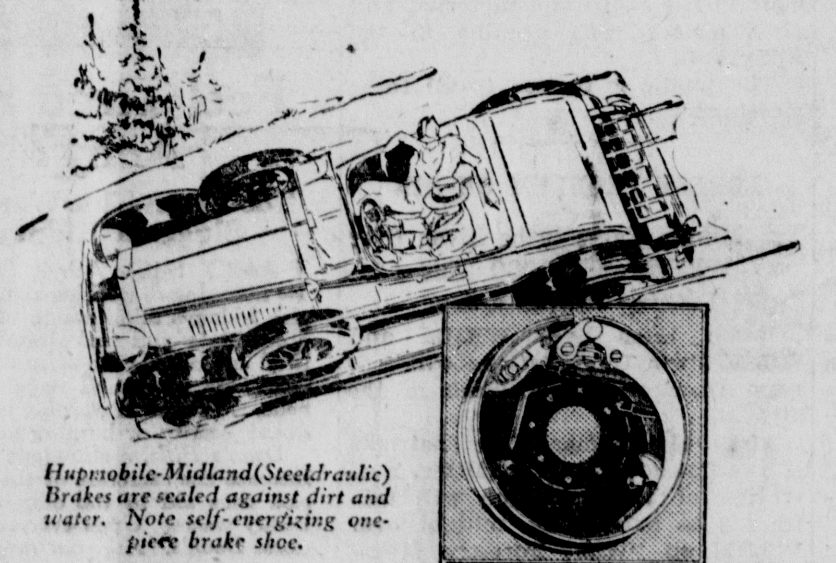

Against a background of plain or paneled walls painted some light tone, such as cream, dove-gray,

sea-green or powder-blue, furniture of this type stands out in striking relief. If, however, the walls of the dining room are of paneled wood which matches the furniture, their surfaces, too, should be highly varnished, or lacquered with clear lacquer, to complete the harmony of the ensemble. And of course the floor should also be given a high-gloss varnish finish. For a dull floor would greatly lessen the beauty of a room so furnished.

Incidentally—and yet, in its way, of equal importance with the decorative value of the varnished surface—it should be remembered that a good varnish protects furniture against the dampness of spilled fluids. And its easy-cleaning properties make it a boon to the housewife. Dust is completely removed with a single, quick wipe of a polishing-cloth, while a slightly dampened cloth perfectly cleanses the surface of crumbs or grease.

Napoleon denies Betsy, his brother's wife, admittance to France. Betsy, using the wiles of a woman against Napoleon's dominant personality, pleads in vain. She is forced to give up her loved one. The struggles of Jerome and Betsy to escape the Emperor's iron hand are a series of tense moments in a great novel. Don't miss a single installment of "Glorious Betsy" beginning in the Daily Dispatch, next Friday.

Here's What They Say About

Iso=Vis!

I bought a five gallon can of Iso-Vis F Motor Oil of your agent at Gypsum, Kansas, and wish to say that it is the best oil I ever used in my Ford. I use my car continuously.

—Olaf Bengtsan, Gypsum, Kansas.

I have used Iso-Vis Motor Oil in my Chrysler Automobile and like it fine. It has given me satisfaction in every way. Have used it now for 1400 miles and it is still holding up good.

—W. G. Keefe, 12561 Third Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Perhaps you would be pleased to know that I found the Iso-Vis [heavy] quite clear and of good body when I had my crankcase drained for a refill after driving 2455 miles. I call that good oil. The car used is a standard six Buick.

—Noah L. Bess, Algoma, Wis.

I have used Iso-Vis medium since December 4th in my Star car, driving about 600 miles a week. I have experienced no starting trouble, and have had perfect motor performance at all speeds and temperatures. I change oil every 1000 miles, and the oil taken out is good enough to use again, as far as lubricating quality goes. Iso-Vis has given me wonderful satisfaction.

—D. C. McCown, 109 N. 13th St., Ft. Dodge, Ia.

These are just a few samples from thousands of unsolicited letters telling what Iso-Vis has done—actual records of performance. They mean more than anything the Standard Oil Company [Indiana] can say about this product. They verify all it has said!

Ordinary motor oil thins out before the car has gone 200 miles. Motorists learned to expect dilution and the trouble it caused. Then Iso-Vis was put on the market—no wonder it was received with enthusiasm.

Iso-Vis is called the constant viscosity motor oil because it keeps its body. It never falls down on the job. It maintains constant lubricating efficiency!

The records of Iso-Vis in daily use talk! They say that Iso-Vis means greater mileage without changing oil—and complete satisfaction every mile. You ought to try it! Iso-Vis "F" for Model T Fords.

DE RIDDER FREED BY AITKIN JURY

Verdict Returned in Five Hours in Case of Self-Confessed Slayer

PLEADED SELF DEFENSE

Killed Frank Reynolds Special Deputy Sheriff During Argument About Traps

Deliberating only five hours, a district court jury at Aitkin Monday returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Garrett DeRidder, charged with the first degree murder of Frank Reynolds, special deputy sheriff during an argument about traps last Christmas day.

DeRidder was represented by Donald Ryan, of the law firm of Ryan, Ryan and Ryan, Brainerd.

Throughout the brief trial as well as during the time he remained in the jail at Aitkin awaiting grand jury action, DeRidder insisted the shooting was in self-defense. As the jury returned with a verdict, DeRidder smiled slightly, gripped the arms of his chair and leaned forward, tense. His wife and children sat behind him. Mrs. DeRidder nervous and on the verge of tears.

At the verdict, DeRidder sat a moment as if stunned then turned swiftly and embraced his wife. The trial was one of the briefest in Aitkin county history. After 72 veniremen had been examined a selection of a jury was completed Saturday afternoon and the trial started.

DeRidder was captured several weeks ago by Sheriff Carl Lind and two deputies at his home near Aitkin where he had returned to embrace his wife before fleeing to Canada.

"They desire to give a program of distinction to the blind people of America, numbering approximately one hundred thousand. They desire to focus attention on the welfare of the blind people and they desire to awaken public consciousness to the inestimable value of eye sight, and to the necessity for prevention of unnecessary blindness. We believe, said Mr. Strout, that we have assembled an unusual group of artists for this program."

Overtake the "72"? ... well, hardly!

If CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped.

All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are

DE RIDDER FREED BY AITKIN JURY

Verdict Returned in Five Hours in Case of Self-Confessed Slayer

PLEADED SELF DEFENSE

Killed Frank Reynolds Special Deputy Sheriff During Argument About Traps

Deliberating only five hours, a district court jury at Aitkin Monday returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Garrett DeRidder, charged with the first degree murder of Frank Reynolds, special deputy sheriff during an argument about traps last Christmas day.

DeRidder was represented by Donald Ryan, of the law firm of Ryan, Ryan and Ryan, Brainerd.

Throughout the brief trial as well as during the time he remained in the jail at Aitkin awaiting grand jury action, DeRidder insisted the shooting was in self-defense. As the jury returned with a verdict, DeRidder paled slightly, gripped the arms of his chair and leaned forward, tense. His wife and children sat behind him. Mrs. DeRidder nervous and on the verge of tears.

At the verdict, DeRidder sat a moment as if stunned then turned swiftly and embraced his wife. The trial was one of the briefest in Aitkin county history. After 72 veniremen had been examined a selection of a jury was completed Saturday afternoon and the trial started.

DeRidder was captured several weeks ago by Sheriff Carl Lind and two deputies at his home near Aitkin where he had returned to embrace his wife before fleeing to Canada.

Overtake the "72"?

... well, hardly!

If CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped.

All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are they to the "72" today? No closer than they were three years ago.

As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924.

There may be pocket-book reasons for choosing cars of lesser price than the "72." There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. LOCKHART, DAREDEVIL RACER, IS KILLED

TRIED TO SET A NEW WORLD SPEED RECORD

BLACK HAWK RACER SOMER-
SAULTED TWICE GOING 200
MILES AN HOUR

PHYSICIANS SAID HIS SKULL WAS FRACTURED AND CHEST
CRUSHED

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 25.—(UP)—Frank Lockhart, daredevil racing car driver, was killed today in an attempt to set a new world's speed record on the Daytona Beach course.

His Black Hawk racer broke from its course as it roared past the grandstand at 200 miles an hour. It somersaulted twice. Lockhart was thrown clear the second time.

His limp form was picked up, but the veteran American driver succumbed before reaching a hospital. Physicians said his skull was fractured and his chest crushed.

The racer's wife was said to have witnessed the fatal accident.

Scores of spectators who got up early to see Lockhart try to surpass the record made by Ray Keech last Sunday—207.53 miles per hour—narrowly escaped death as the slim black car crashed.

One eye-witness account of the crash said the Stutz special came thundering up the beach. Suddenly sand sprayed out from its rear wheels as it swerved. Then it completely turned turtle in the air. Some said it rose as high as thirty feet above the beach, then fell on its side.

Again it bounced from the sand, this time throwing Lockhart clear of the driver's seat to his death.

The 25-year-old driver was on his second attempt of the day after the record when he was killed.

His official time for the one-mile stretch was 203.5 miles an hour. Then he started back. He needed a speed of approximately 213 miles an hour to give him an average better than Keech made Sunday. At the height of the run when he appeared moving well over 200 miles, the accident occurred.

Lockhart met death only a stone's throw from where his Stutz Blackhawk was catapulted into the ocean last February during the international speed trials.

'CULTURE CONTEST' COVERED BY A SPORTS EDITOR

St. Louis, Mo., April 25.—(UP)—Writing with the license of a sports editor, James M. Gould of the St. Louis Star speculates as follows on the possible result if a baseball writer were assigned to cover the forthcoming "culture contest" between Harvard and Yale:

"First page—Yale—Jones sent a sizzling adverb to right. Brown sacrificed a simile. Robinson's metaphor was too hot for Jackson to handle and Jones skipped a question in advancing. Smith sent a long paraphrase to O'Neil in left, Jones remaining on the third paragraph. Lansing's bathos to Simmons was easy and he was laughed out. No puns, one dit, no errors."

"If you are glad that's over," Gould concluded, "it's unanimous."

CASE MAY GO TO JURY LATE IN AFTERNOON

CLAIMS CONTRACT ON WHICH KEARNS BASES SUIT WAS NEVER RECOGNIZED

FIGHTER AND MANAGER CON- TINUED TO SPLIT 50-50 UN- TIL FINAL BREAK

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, April 25.—Closing arguments started today in the trial of Jack Kearns' suit against Jack Dempsey for $534,360 and Federal Judge John C. Knox was expected to submit the case to the jury late this afternoon.

Evidence introduced by the defense purports to show that the contract on which Kearns bases his suit was never recognized by either party and that Dempsey and Kearns continued to split "50-50" until the final break came.

The plaintiff bases his case on testimony introduced to show that Kearns signed for Dempsey to meet Tunney before the expiration of the contract between the two Jacks and is legally entitled to one-third of Dempsey's purse for the Philadelphia bout.

The bookmakers who have followed the trial have quoted the mythical odds of 2 to 1 that Dempsey wins.

The outcome of the suit will have no immediate effect on either Dempsey or Kearns, they both maintain. "I will not return to the ring if I lose," Dempsey said.

"Whether I win or lose, I'll continue as usual," Kearns said.

WHAT OUTSTANDING STARS DID YESTERDAY

(By United Press)

Babe Ruth—For the first time since the baseball season's inception hit two home runs in one game. They came in the third and seventh innings of the 4 to 0 shutout of the Senators.

Gehrige—Got one single in three trips to the plate.

Tris Speaker—Starred for the Athletics with four hits, including two doubles, in five times at bat.

Paul Waner—Could do no better than a single in facing Sheriff Blake of the Cubs.

Harry Heilmann—Made two hits, including a double in four times at bat and also stole a base.

Watching the Scoreboard

By United Press

Yesterday's Hero—Babe Ruth, who got his second and third home runs of the season off Horace Lisenbee, Washington hurler.

Herb Pennock, the Yankee's southpaw ace, let the Senators down with but three hits in defeating them 4 to 0. Lisenbee was reached for seven hits, three of which accounted for all of the Yankee runs.

A crowd of but 782 paid customers saw Grover Cleveland Alexander add another to his long string of victories when he twirled the Cardinals to a 7 to 2 win over the Reds. Alexander held the Reds scoreless for the first seven innings.

After a shaky start, in which he allowed the Phillies to put across three runs, Jess Petty regained his confidence and held his opponents scoreless until the last inning. The Robins won 12 to 7.

The St. Louis Browns made it two out of three in their current series with Cleveland, when Johnny Ogden allowed the Indians seven scattered hits, to win 6 to 2.

Nine hits accounted for all of the Cubs' runs in their 7 to 2 defeat of the Pirates. Stephenson and Hartnett hit homers.

Singles by Metzler and Barrett and a sacrifice fly by Falk in the tenth inning brought Chicago a 5 to 4 victory over Detroit.

A powerful offensive, led by Tris Speaker, carried the Athletics to an 11 to 6 win over the Boston Red Sox. Hauser contributed two homers.

SPORTSMATTER

FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney are Tex Rickard's step-children. They are the ugly ducklings of the heavyweight division.

The two Jacks are training for their bout Monday night which will determine which is the worse of the two.

The affair marks the resumption of the indoor boxing season which was interrupted by the arrival of "Goliath, the Sea Elephant" and his fellows of the circus.

This pair of Jacks is not much to open on, but Rickard figures each fighter will attract a lot of customers—who want to see him licked!

Sharkey and Delaney were easily at the bottom of the class when the elimination business was over. The Bridgeport boxer had been beaten by Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko. The Bostonian had lost to Risko, and had fought a poor draw with Heeney.

The former light heavyweight champion was a three-to-one favorite over Heeney for their elimination bout in Madison Square Garden last winter. Delaney figured to outbox the slow-thinking, plodding New Zealander and to cut Tom down with that once deadly right hand uppercut. Instead, stout-hearted Tom crowded weak-kneed Jack from the opening bell to the closing, and Delaney never once let go the right hand counted upon to finish the fight.

Sharkey certainly should have warranted the odds of 3 to 1 wagered on him to defeat roly-poly Johnny Risko, but the Bostonian fought one of his worst fights (and they can be bad!) and the puffing Cleveland heavyweight took the play away from him and the judges' verdict as well.

There will be nothing at stake next Monday night except the possible chance of a bout with Gene Tunney in 1929. There will be no one for Monday night's winner to fight this year. Paolino has outtought Delaney once, and Sharkey is reported to want no part of the Basque. Risko has beaten both of them. Tommy Loughran scratched Delaney off the eligible list in the 175-pound division when Jack signed for the Sharkey go.

"If he's a light heavyweight, let him fight light heavyweights," said Tommy sagely. "I wanted to fight Delaney and presumably he wanted to fight me. The bout would have drawn well outdoors. Now he goes and signs with Sharkey and he won't be good for anything when that big Lithuanian gets through with him."

Opinion seems generally to go along with Loughran in this matter. Delaney is an in-and-outter, it is admitted, but he hasn't been any more disappointing than Sharkey. On their records, the affair is viewed as a "stand-off." But the feeling is expressed something like this:

"Sharkey is a bad big man and Delaney a bad little man. And a bad big man can beat a bad little man any day."

The Boston heavyweight has taken his recent set-backs with an air of resignation.

"Well, that's three bad ones in a row," he remarked, after the Risko fiasco.

Delaney, or his handlers, rather favor the well-known alibi. There usually is some perfectly plausible excuse for each of the Bridgeport boxer's defeats.

The fight fans of New York and vicinity are rather discouraged about both boxers, however, and the loser will need no alibi this time. It will be quite what a number of the spectators expected.

Again it bounced from the sand, this time throwing Lockhart clear of the driver's seat to his death.

The 25-year-old driver was on his second attempt of the day after the record when he was killed.

His official time for the one-mile stretch was 203.5 miles an hour. Then he started back. He needed a speed of approximately 213 miles an hour to give him an average better than Keech made Sunday. At the height of the run when he appeared moving well over 200 miles, the accident occurred.

Lockhart met death only a stone's throw from where his Stutz Blackhawk was catapulted into the ocean last February during the international speed trials.

'CULTURE CONTEST' COVERED BY A SPORTS EDITOR

St. Louis, Mo., April 25.—(UP)—Writing with the license of a sports editor, James M. Gould of the St. Louis Star speculates as follows on the possible result if a baseball writer were assigned to cover the forthcoming "culture contest" between Harvard and Yale:

"First page—Yale—Jones sent a sizzling adverb to right. Brown sacrificed a simile. Robinson's metaphor was too hot for Jackson to handle and Jones skipped a question in advancing. Smith sent a long paraphrase to O'Neil in left, Jones remaining on the third paragraph. Lansing's bathos to Simmons was easy and he was laughed out. No puns, one fit, no errors."

"If you are glad that's over," Gould concluded, "it's unanimous."

CASE MAY GO TO JURY LATE IN AFTERNOON

CLAIMS CONTRACT ON WHICH KEARNS BASES SUIT WAS NEVER RECOGNIZED

FIGHTER AND MANAGER CON- TINUED TO SPLIT 50-50 UN- TIL FINAL BREAK

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, April 25.—Closing arguments started today in the trial of Jack Kearns' suit against Jack Dempsey for $534,360 and Federal Judge John C. Knox was expected to submit the case to the jury late this afternoon.

Evidence introduced by the defense purports to show that the contract on which Kearns bases his suit was never recognized by either party and that Dempsey and Kearns continued to split "50-50" until the final break came.

The plaintiff bases its case on testimony introduced to show that Kearns signed for Dempsey to meet Tunney before the expiration of the contract between the two Jacks and is legally entitled to one-third of Dempsey's purse for the Philadelphia bout.

The bookmakers who have followed the trial have quoted the mythical odds of 2 to 1 that Dempsey wins.

The outcome of the suit will have no immediate effect on either Dempsey or Kearns, they both maintain.

"I will not return to the ring if I lose," Dempsey said.

"Whether I win or lose, I'll continue as usual," Kearns said.

WHAT OUTSTANDING STARS DID YESTERDAY

(By United Press)

Babe Ruth—For the first time since the baseball season's inception hit two home runs in one game. They came in the third and seventh innings of the 4 to 0 shutout of the Senators.

Gehrig—Got one single in three trips to the plate.

Tris Speaker—Starred for the Athletics with four hits, including two doubles, in five times at bat.

Paul Waner—Could do no better than a single in facing Sheriff Blake of the Cubs.

Harry Heilmann—Made two hits, including a double in four times at bat and also stole a base.

Watching the Scoreboard

By United Press

Yesterday's Hero—Babe Ruth, who got his second and third home runs of the season off Horace Lisenbee, Washington hurler.

Herb Pennock, the Yankee's southpaw ace, let the Senators down with but three hits in defeating them 4 to 0. Lisenbee was reached for seven hits, three of which accounted for all of the Yankee runs.

A crowd of but 782 paid customers saw Grover Cleveland Alexander add another to his long string of victories when he twirled the Cardinals to a 7 to 2 win over the Reds. Alexander held the Reds scoreless for the first seven innings.

After a shaky start, in which he allowed the Phillies to put across three runs, Jess Petty regained his confidence and held his opponents scoreless until the last inning. The Robins won 12 to 7.

The St. Louis Browns made it two out of three in their current series with Cleveland, when Johnny Ogden allowed the Indians seven scattered hits, to win 6 to 2.

Nine hits accounted for all of the Cubs' runs in their 7 to 2 defeat of the Pirates. Stephenson and Hartnett hit homers.

Singles by Metzler and Barrett and a sacrifice fly by Falk in the tenth inning brought Chicago a 5 to 4 victory over Detroit.

A powerful offensive, led by Tris Speaker, carried the Athletics to an 11 to 6 win over the Boston Red Sox. Hauser contributed two homers.

SPORTSMATTER

Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney are Tex Rickard's step-children. They are the ugly ducklings of the heavyweight division.

The two Jacks are training for their bout Monday night which will determine which is the worse of the two.

The affair marks the resumption of the indoor boxing season which was interrupted by the arrival of "Goliath, the Sea Elephant" and his fellows of the circus.

This pair of Jacks is not much to open on, but Rickard figures each fighter will attract a lot of customers—who want to see him licked!

Sharkey and Delaney were easily at the bottom of the class when the elimination business was over. The Bridgeport boxer had been beaten by Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko. The Bostonian had lost to Risko and had fought a poor draw with Heeney.

The former light heavyweight champion was a three-to-one favorite over Heeney for their elimination bout in Madison Square Garden last winter. Delaney figured to outbox the slow-thinking, plodding New Zealander and to cut Tom down with that once deadly right hand uppercut. Instead, stout-hearted Tom crowded weak-kneed Jack from the opening bell to the closing, and Delaney never once let go the right hand counted upon to finish the fight. Sharkey certainly should have warranted the odds of 3 to 1 wagered on him to defeat roly-poly Johnny Risko, but the Bostonian fought one of his worst fights (and they can be bad!) and the puffing Cleveland heavyweight took the play away from him and the judges' verdict as well.

There will be nothing at stake next Monday night except the possible chance of a bout with Gene Tunney in 1929. There will be no one for Monday night's winner to fight this year. Paolino has outfought Delaney once, and Sharkey is reported to want no part of the Basque. Risko has beaten both of them. Tommy Loughran scratched Delaney off the eligible list in the 175-pound division when Jack signed for the eSharkey go.

"If he's a light heavyweight, let him fight light heavyweights," said Tommy sagely. "I wanted to fight Delaney and presumably he wanted to fight me. The bout would have drawn well outdoors. Now he goes and signs with Sharkey and he won't be good for anything when that big Lithuanian gets through with him."

Opinion seems generally to go along with Loughran in this matter. Delaney is an in-and-outter, it is admitted, but he hasn't been any more disappointing than Sharkey. On their records, the affair is viewed as a "stand-off." But the feeling is expressed something like this:

"Sharkey is a bal big man and Delaney a bad little man. And a bad big man can beat a bad little man any day."

The Boston heavyweight has taken his recent set-backs with an air of resignation.

"Well, that's three bad ones in a row," he remarked, after the Risko fiasco.

Delaney, or his handlers, rather favor the well-known alibi. There usually is some perfectly plausible excuse for each of the Bridgeport boxer's defeats.

The fight fans of New York and vicinity are rather discouraged about both boxers, however, and the loser will need no alibi this time. It will be quite what a number of the spectators expected.

PAYNE AND GAVUZZI FIND LEAD CUT DOWN

PLYE CROSS COUNTRY RUNNERS LEAVE ROLLA FOR SULLIVAN, VAN. MO.

FOR SECOND TIME GARDNER AND GRANVILLE TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

Rolla, Mo., April 26.—(UP)—Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla., and Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., found their lead substantially cut down today as the Pyle cross-country runners left here for Sullivan, Mo., 42 miles east.

For the second consecutive time, Ed Gardner of Seattle, Wash., and Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., negroes, finished in a tie for first place yesterday, while the leaders lagged.

The time of Granville and Gardner for the 32.4 miles from Conway, Mo., was 4:39:37. Arthur Richman of New York was third in 5:00:30, while Payne and Gavuzzi finished in a tie for ninth place with Mike Joyce of Cleveland and William Kerr, Minneapolis. Kerr remained seventh among the leaders with total time of 375:31:56.
